

The 25by25 project is close to its end!

We are happy to announce that the 25by25 partnership has achieved all the project's goals as we managed to:

- increase the accessibility to existing cultural heritage for young people;
- involve marginalised youths in cultural heritage initiatives;
- promote the "25by25" message among young people and youth workers.

Which are the activities developed?

Over the last 3 years, the 25by25 project has carried out many activities both at a national and European level, such as:

- Research activities into NEET and migrant youth engagement in cultural experiences in Europe
- Analysis and Selection of Cultural Activities for youth across Europe
- Creation of a Place-Based Cultural Activity Curriculum for youth
- Development of the 25by25 Digital Platform for young people and youth workers
- Evaluation activities for ensuring the quality of the project
- Dissemination and raising-awareness events to inform stakeholders and youth organisations about the project's results

Which resources have been created?

All the activities throughout the project allowed us to create free resources that are freely available for all the young people and youth workers that want to be updated or inspired by new cultural engagement information and tools.

What was the impact of the project?

The collaboration among organisations coming from 6 different countries and different fields of work allowed the project to impact strongly on different levels. In particular, the 25by25 project contributed to the following:

- Raise awareness of cultural initiatives amongst young people;
- Allow youths with fewer opportunities to acquire common European values, civic competencies and digital skills;
- Help youth organisations facilitate access to cultural initiatives targeted at young people
- Improve local and regional cooperation networks;
- Reach 200+ registrations on the digital platform;
- Allow 20+ youth organisations to use the 25 by 25 Digital Platform.
